With muscles bulging and sweat dripping, lumberjacks and lumberjills gave a crowd-pleasing performance with their impressive

Several hundred people watched as competitors from around the world fought for bragging rights and cash prizes in

Gil Lane travelled all the way from down under to come to this year's competition. The 15-year veteran competed in Timberfest

This past weekend, an 82-year-old woman answered the door late at night and was greeted by a criminal.

Shortly after midnight on Saturday, the Prince Street resident answered a knock on her front door and was greeted by a man dressed in a dark parka with a hood. He grabbed her, demanding money, but fled the scene. Luckily the victim was not injured and the culprit left empty handed.

Police quickly made their way to Prince Street after receiving the call. The OPP canine unit was brought in to try to track the scent of the perpetrator, but with no luck.

Police are asking anyone with information to contact the OPP at 1-888-310-1122 or Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-TIPS (8477). Crime Stoppers is completely anonymous and does not subscribe to call display. You will not testify in court and you may be eligible for a cash reward of up to $2000.

TSW panel to hold public meetings

The panel on the future of the Trent-Severn Waterway has scheduled 16 public meetings in the communities along the waterway corridor over the summer months.

The independent panel has been appointed to evaluate the waterway's future, how to protect and present its cultural heritage, how to protect the natural environment, how it can contribute to the recreational needs of Canadians and visitors, the role of renewable energy, a water management regime, and a sustainable funding framework.

At the meetings, individuals and organizations can make public presentations about ideas to address the opportunities, challenges and issues facing the waterway system. Anyone who wants to make a public presentation must reserve a time slot and submit a written copy (or brief summary) of the content to the panel office in advance.

The first meeting will be held in Bobcaygeon on July 3, and the public consultation phase of the panel's process will end in Lakefield on September 13, 2007.

The meeting schedule is: Bobcaygeon - July 3; Peterborough - July 4; Port Perry - July 5; Trenton - July 24; Campbellford - July 25; Bolsover - July 26; Haliburton - July 28; Port Severn - Aug. 7; Orillia - Aug. 8; Lindsay - Aug. 9; Minden - Aug. 14; Hastings - Aug. 15; Fenelon Falls - Aug. 16; Keswick - Sept. 11; Barrie - Sept. 12; Lakefield - Sept. 13.

Locations and times will be posted on the website at www.tswpanel.ca as soon as they are established and in local papers prior to each meeting. Detailed information about the process and submission requirements are also posted on the site.

Anyone who would like to make a submission can make a public presentation, make a written submission, or do both. The deadline for written submissions is September 30, 2007.

The Honourable John Baird, Minister of the Environment and the Minister Responsible for Parks Canada appointed the six-member independent panel at an event held at the Peterborough Lift Locks on May 11, 2007. The panel will submit recommendations to the Minister in December, 2007.

to the Villamere hunt camp upon winning the CBC's Bring Home The Stanley Cup contest.

On the Villamere website, www.villamere.com, under the Ed's Photos, there are numerous pictures of the Moose with members of the Villamere family and one of Messier walking up the road with Lord Stanley's Cup resting on his shoulder.

Villamere said that the CBC spared no expense.

"They redid the driveway up to the camp, they painted the entire camp from top to bottom, they redid the hardwood floor that's in the camp, they just went completely overboard," said Villamere, a Minden resident whose roots stretch back to the Ottawa Valley, where his family gathers every year to watch Hockey Night in Canada on an outdoor screen.

A video of this experience won them the visit by Messier and the Stanley Cup - before it was whisked away to Anaheim.

In all, approximately 54 Villamere's were in attendance, including Grandma Villamere, who was able to make it to the camp despite being fairly immobile due to old age. However, Richard said if she was not able to make it to the camp that day that the CBC was prepared to bring Messier and the Cup to her.

"They were willing to go out of their way to make sure my grandmother was a part of this," he said.

So what was Mark Messier like?

"Everything you've ever heard about Mark Messier is absolutely true," said Villamere. "He is a true gentleman through and through."

He said Messier arrived with the Stanley Cup just before 7 p.m. and he departed at approximately 9:30-9:45, but sans the Stanley Cup. It remained behind with the Villameres under the care of the Hockey Hall of Fame staff.

"The best part was the family being together there with Stanley Cup," said Villamere.

Minden Rotary Club has special anniversary

by JESSICA YOUNG
Times staff

Minden Rotary Club members can stand tall and proud for their remarkable achievement. June 17th marks the 60th anniversary of a service organization that has committed itself to giving back to the community with integrity and heart.

Rotarians are getting an early start on reminiscing and speaking about their club that has brought them so much joy and purpose within the Minden area and beyond.

Membership has grown steadily and now the group heralds 17 dedicated Rotarians. A long-time and respected Rotarian is 86-year-old Eddie Pergolas. He has been with Minden Rotary for 36 years and holds the position of Sergeant at Arms.

"Sixty years is something of a milestone," Pergolas says of the Minden club's anniversary.

Eddie began his Rotary career when he lived in Agincourt and gave 15 years to that group before moving to Minden. He was one of 15,000 members, so moving to the small Rotary club up north was quite an adjustment. But what Eddie loves most about being part of Rotary in the Highlands is that the group can be a part of so many aspects of the community.

"We encompass practically every avenue in Minden. There are bigger requests and bigger needs here for things the municipality can't afford to offer. We spend a lot of money on the Rotary Park, upgrades for the arena, and the museum," he said.

Being a part of Rotary has enabled Pergolas to open his eyes to the needs of others, and also give him the ability to travel around North America to learn about the power of giving.

"I've been to Las Vegas, New Orleans and Montreal for Rotary International meetings," he said.

After so many years being a Rotarian, Pergolas says the lesson that he's seen and learned time and again is to help out your fellow men and women.

"We don't try and run people's lives. We all work together," he said.

It's that sense of friendship and bonding that has enabled the local group to truly flourish.

Being in existence for such a long time period means that the organization has mastered the art of communication and open-mindedness. With changing times comes various challenges, and Minden Rotary has demonstrated their ability to come together with honour and respect for all people.

Someone who has experienced the type of accepting environment Rotary provides is Jeanne Anthon, acting director of the group. She was the first female member of the Minden Rotary Club when she joined in 1991.

It was during this time that Rotary clubs across the globe were opening their memberships to females.

"Another woman joined just minutes after I did. There was a lot of mixed feelings by the traditional club members," said Anthon. "But a great moment occurred several weeks after we had joined when a high-ranking member who had been reluctant about female members, brought in roses for the two of us and said it's the best thing that ever happened to Rotary."

Anthon felt committed to join when she says she realized the extent of Rotary service within communities and worldwide. She says the 60th anniversary is an occasion to "reflect on the achievements of Minden Rotary, recognize the many people who have brought this club forward, take inventory of the multitude of accomplishments in Minden area and world-wide, and celebrate 'the little Club that did.'"

Fellow female member Terry Carr, a self-proclaimed "newbie" to the Rotary Club, started taking part this past February. She also holds a special place in her heart for the local group.

"I look forward to every Monday's dinner and meeting. I also love that I get to hear about everything that is happening in our area through speakers and other members. I learn something every week!" she said.

Being in the company of caring and active people is why Carr is so proud to call herself a Rotarian.

"Rotarians love and believe in their community and are involved both through the Club, and on their own initiatives, with every aspect of community life," she said. "One just has to look at Jeanne Anthon as an example. Jeanne is a Rotarian, but the amount of things that she is involved in that are outside Rotary involvement is immense."

With every Rotarian who spoke with the Times, it was clear that the 60th anniversary meant just as much to newcomers as it did to Rotary veterans.

"It gives a great sense of belonging. It also confirms that Minden is, and has been a place in which people care about their community and the people in it," said Joanne Penfold, secretary.

The motto of Rotary is Service Above Self, says Penfold.

"What I see in the members of our service club is that they really give of themselves to their community. It is a life philosophy."

Minden Rotary will celebrate their milestone on June 13th at the Grill on the Gull.

Eddie Pergolas will celebrate the Minden Rotary's 60th anniversary. The longtime Rotarian has served with the local group for 36 years and is currently their Sergeant at Arms.

Members Show ends in three-way tie

by LAURA HENDRICK
Times staff

There was a three-way tie for the People's Choice Award at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery last Sunday. With more than 200 votes cast by visitors to the Members' Show, the even split was unexpected. Holding up three different certificates, it seemed curator Laura Carmount had found one more way to demonstrate the show's theme of "Balance".

"When I got the call about the tie from my receptionist last night, I said: 'Did you vote? Break it!'" said Carmount with a laugh. But she eventually decided that each of the winners deserved credit. The three were Dale Jewett for a remarkably symmetrical quilt, Dana Dodds for a sculpture made out of driftwood and clay, and Sue Reid for a quilt with trees and flowers that commemorated her trip to Alaska.

While the results seemed to favour textile art, there was an astonishing variety of media at the show. Raku pottery, digitally manipulated photography, ink sketches, water colour painting, carving and several other techniques were all part of the exhibit.

There was no trace of rivalry among artists as they roamed through the gallery at the show's closing reception. Many used the chance to compliment one another and explain how their artwork came to be.

"My grandmother taught me to tatter when she was 80. Now I've passed it on to a daughter and granddaughter," said Ruth MacBrian who has reached 81 herself. MacBrian's delicate blue lace creation, aptly called "Tatter", took about 14 hours of careful finger work to create. The small piece seemed to launch people on a trip down memory lane. "My grandmother used to do it," said Jane Castel-Vanderburgh, holding her finger up to examine its delicate loopholes. "It's a lost art."

Castel-Vanderburgh submitted her own artwork to the exhibit: a manipulated photograph of a split grapefruit. Taking in each of the show's pieces gave her the chance to appreciate the scope of talent in Haliburton County. "I wouldn't have missed the show even if I was on my death bed," she said, noting that she was just beginning to recover from cataract surgery.

The exhibit shone light on the many ways an artistic gene can emerge in a family. Next to Dodds' driftwood sculpture was a series of playful sketches created by her Grade 8 daughter Tegan.

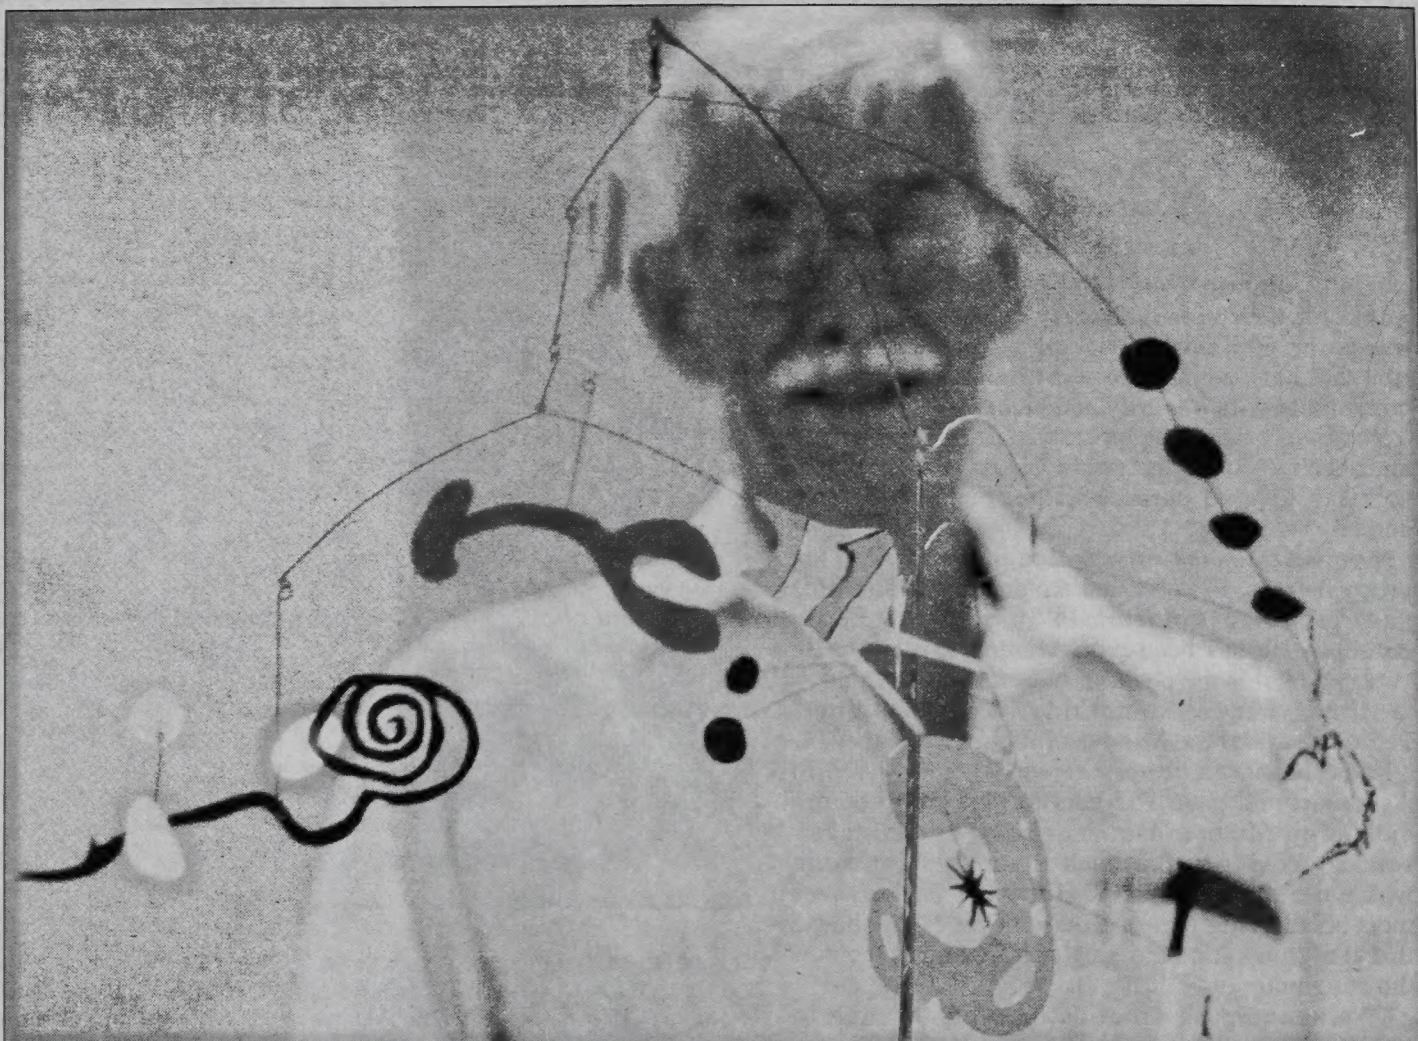

There were also husband and wife teams. MacBrian's "Tatter" was matched by her husband Robert's acrylic depiction of a rural landscape. "He carves, does stain glass, you name it," she said. After 57 years of marriage, MacBrian has had a difficult year watching Robert survive five separate aneurisms. She said an interest in art has been an essential part of his recovery. Now their daughter, Lois, is continuing on the artistic tradition through photography.

The reception marked the 25th year of the Members' Show. While it had been shortened to two weeks and bumped to an earlier time slot in the spring, the high number of votes demonstrated a growing level of support from the community.

"Word is going to spread," said John MacKay, a Toronto resident who cottages in the area. "You're going to see more and more artists coming here."

Jo-Anne Ecclestone has a lot to smile about. The Hyland Crest nurse was recently nominated for the Toronto Star's annual Nightingale Award, recognizing the work of outstanding nurses. "It's an honour," she says.

Nurse wins Nightingale Award

by JESSICA YOUNG
Times staff

Hyland Crest nurse Jo-Anne Ecclestone got quite the surprise when someone told her that her name was published in the weekend edition of the Toronto Star. She had no idea what the story was about. She was puzzled about what could possibly prompt the popular paper to print her name.

"One of the (Hyland Crest) resident's daughters came in from Toronto; she's a nurse there. She came in and congratulated me. I said, 'Thank you but what for?' She said, 'You're in the Toronto Star. You were nominated for their Nightingale Award.' I wasn't sure what the award was," Ecclestone says.

During Nurse Week, which runs May 7-13, the popular daily presents the Nightingale Award to one nurse who has made an impact on his or her patients. Ecclestone was given the honour of a nomination. Who gave her the recognition remains a mystery.

"I was working that weekend so I didn't read the paper until the middle of the week. Not knowing I was nominated and by who is kind of special. I must have done something positive to someone. It's an honour."

Ecclestone won't seek out the individual or group who decided to add her name to the list of nominees. However, she says that whoever did give her the nod should know that it is only through the hard work of her co-workers that she can give the best of care to her patients.

"I work with some wonderful staff who take pride in their work and it makes my job so much easier," she said.

It's no wonder that someone put her name amongst 125 others for the accolade. A nurse at Hyland Crest for 23 years, her earlier experience in acute care touched the lives of people in Windsor, Detroit and Toronto. When she made the decision with her family to move to Minden, Ecclestone began her work in long-term care.

"Sometimes all they need is someone to listen to. We spend a lot more time doing the administration of medication and care and just listening to what they need."

Ecclestone moved to the area with her two sons roughly two decades ago and says coming north was the best decision she ever made.

"We wanted to raise our kids here in the Highlands. I like the closeness of a small community. It's family oriented and everyone cares for one another," she said. "You share in each other's positives. If there's an accomplishment with a staff member or family, you're excited because you know them."

If Ecclestone is right, Hyland Crest staff and the Minden community is celebrating the accomplishments of one of their own.

Attention kids: turn your best photo into cold, hard cash on Canada Day

by JESSICA YOUNG
Times staff

Attention all elementary and high school kids: how would you like to pocket $50 on Canada Day?

Well, the chance is yours if you enter the second annual Just For Fun photo contest hosted by Minden Hills.

In order to have a chance to grab some great pocket money, simply submit your best photo. Don't worry if you're not a whiz with the camera; a submission of your favourite photo, whether you took the photo or not, will also make you eligible for the competition.

The Minden Hills Canada Day committee is anxious to see the entries from youngsters who live in Haliburton County. Snap photos or hand in your best camera shot for any one of the following categories: my favourite pet, my funniest moment, my favourite place, my favourite activity or my special person.

"We're trying to focus on really cool, funny pictures," said organizer Laura Cunliffe.

Brag to your friends about the fact that your photo will be on display during Minden's celebration of the nation's birthday. Hurry up and hand in your favourite picture because the first 100 photos the township receives will be showcased in downtown Minden.

Lucky youngsters can win a number of prizes for their photos. Judges will fork over $50 for the top three overall photos. There will also be some impressive surprise gifts for the best photo in each category.

"Judging will be done by three council members, probably the reeve and deputy reeve," said Cunliffe.

Judging will take place in the morning and after opening ceremonies, the winners will be announced for all to hear at the staging area in front of Minden Auto Care.

Cunliffe created the idea for a photo contest a few years back so that kids could be more involved with Canada Day celebrations.

"We're always looking for new ideas. Every year the committee has been trying to expand the children's event area so there's more going on with children," said Cunliffe.

The contest has already begun and submissions will be accepted until June 20 so don't wait to hand in your best snapshot.

All entries should be addressed to 'Just for Fun' Photo Contest, 7 Milne St., Minden, Ontario K0M 2K0 & should include the full name of the student & contact information of the parent(s). If you require the pictures back, please include a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Any prizes not claimed on Canada Day can be claimed at the Township office after July 1st, 2007 up to a period of one month.

What a buzz

WHAT A KICK-START to an unforgettable summer in the Highlands. Last Saturday the Minden fairgrounds were bustling with people at this year's Timberfest, proving Minden has what it takes to put on a show with style and pizzazz.

First, there were many local booths showcasing some of the town's finest attractions. You couldn't pass by Charlie Robb's organic garlic tent without stopping in for a taste of his feta cheese and garlic spread. R.D Lawrence Place organizer Dianna Graham also had a table with miniature straw bales on show. She got attendees excited about why they should visit the new building once it opens later this year.

Of course the highlight of the day were the talents of lumberjacks and lumberjills. From New Zealand to New York state, competitors travel far and wide to be part of Timberfest. The bleachers were filled with eager lumber fans who were just itching to see some of the world's best athletes showcase their abilities.

It was quite the sight. Big burly men, standing six feet tall, were quick as a cat doing the underhand chop. And the women blew away the crowd, rocking the saw with precision and force.

Talking to event participants during the breaks between events, many of them commented about why they keep making Minden as a stop in their competitive tours. Timberfest is known as a great event, but something that really stands out in the minds of these athletes is the type of hospitality that Minden has to offer.

Despite the roar of the chain saws, the audience still managed to make its enthusiasm heard. Visitors were cheering, hooting and hollering during the competitions, reminding athletes that they had a whole slew of fans rooting them on.

What made the day truly special was the eclectic mix of visitors who come out and partake in the day's festivities. People of all ages, men and women, were showing athletes their appreciation, and that translates to competitors wanting to come back year after year.

Celebrating 60 years

The fact that the Minden Rotary Club is celebrating 60 years of service is no surprise. The group's heavy involvement in the community is well known and well respected. There seems to be a core group of dedicated volunteers in Minden, people who are involved in every event, large or small. Rotary is one of them.

Perhaps so many people are attracted to Rotary for the sense of camaraderie that's apparent among its members. When interviewing Rotarian Terry Carr, she took the time to marvel at fellow Rotarian Jeanne Anthon's work in the community. Joanna Penfold spoke about how she admires fellow member and Sergeant at Arms, Ed Pergolas. There is a domino effect of compliments and kudos. What an example of true friendship and respect.

Whether they are outside cleaning up the town, raising money for the R.D Lawrence Place or helping to upgrade the arena, Rotarians never seem to sleep. They are always up to good, and the people of Minden should be giving this group a pat on the back for their hard work, dedication to the community, and their commitment to Minden for the past six decades.

Keep the roads safe

To the Editor:

The residents of Water Street have every reason to be concerned about traffic resulting from the proposed Canadian Tire.

County council acknowledges that the traffic through Ingoldsby is such an issue that it has resorted to significantly increasing fines since reducing the speed limit has not worked to solve problems. (That wouldn't affect the volume of traffic or the noise, but it's hoped, will at least make drivers slow down.)

There was also a suggestion that speed bumps could be in the future if the new fines don't work.

Yet Minden Hills Council approved an official plan and zoning bylaw amendment that would result in exactly the same problems in another neighbourhood?

I hope they intend to make Water Street the county's next Community Safety Zone, and if that fails to resolve traffic problems, add speed bumps.

Roll Call

OKAY, SO THERE was this woman in the US who was recently caught stealing toilet paper from a courthouse. Now everyone is having a good laugh because her last name just happens to be Butts.

Yeah sure, it's very funny; but let's not pretend that this was a victimless crime. Because, believe me, there are victims. Who knows how many have people suffered at the hands of this woman?

That's the problem with toilet paper theft. It is the silent crime.

It's true; victims rarely speak out about their harrowing experiences. That's because society has attached a certain stigma attached to being rolled. Even though you know it's not your fault, you somehow feel dirty.

While I don't like to talk about it, I too was once the innocent victim of TP theft. And I'll never forget how bad it felt.

Prepare yourself for a riveting tale. Ready? Okay, here it comes.

It was a morning like any other – the sun dawned bright over the eastern horizon and willowy clouds, many shaped like unicorns and Viking ships floated across an eggshell sky. There I was sitting down in an isolated outhouse reading my favourite magazine when I decided it was time to reach over for some bathroom tissue. Imagine my horror when I discovered it wasn't there. Heck, it had always been there before. Suddenly my whole world was shattered. Dark clouds blotted out the sun.

Trying to keep it together, I looked around and then thought, "This must be some kind mistake. This can't be happening to me."

But, sadly, it wasn't a mistake and it was happening. Someone had made off with all the toilet paper and there was no replacement roll in sight. My worst nightmare had been realized.

A lot of things cross your mind at a moment like that. You think, "Why me?"

Or "Who would do this?" But mostly you wonder if you'll ever see your family again. You think of the birthdays you'll miss, playing softball with the kids, and puppies. Yes, puppies.

Then panic kicks in! You desperately look around; your eyes searching in vain for that one roll that will bring you sweet salvation. And you swear to yourself that you'll never complain about sandpaper one-ply again.

And then there's that one defining moment when it finally dawns on you – there's just no toilet paper here.

You choke back the tears. You yell for help. But your muffled cries go unanswered. Minutes pass. You mumble, "Someone will pass by. Someone must pass by." You consider building a signal fire.

Be brave, you tell yourself. Be brave.

Suddenly, your survival instincts kick in.

Gerbil ruins Pritchard House

IT WOULD COST an arm and a leg to save Minden's Pritchard House from its fate, which may be to be turned into a parking lot.

As cost estimates go, that is close enough for government work, at least in the Township of Minden Hills. It is the figure this newspaper has reported.

Pritchard House is a fine old stone house that adorns the neighbourhood of the Gull River in downtown Minden.

A policy set by some gerbil at Queen's Park has forced township staff to contemplate the future of the building, which it owns. Access has to be improved and that got township staff to thinking, which is how the trouble began.

Wiring also would have to be replaced. Windows. Plumbing. Doors. Alternately, just wait a little longer and save the price of demolition; the old building might fall down by itself.

Just a thought. Why not just let it collapse and declare the debris a stone pile and leave it there as a monument to Haliburton's farming pioneers, who grew nothing so well as stone piles?

For the ribbon-cutting for that stone pile, they could invite that environmentalist who told a recent Gaia Centre conference here that climate change would turn Haliburton County into a farming hotbed.

I expect the Gaia Center has been sued by now by some ancient son of the soil who laughed so hard at the idea of turning our county into a fertile plain that he did himself an injury.

But I have meandered off the point, which started out to be the Pritchard House and its imminent collapse. Leave it is and it becomes a stone pile; try to fix it up and it becomes a sink hole for township money.

There is not nearly enough money for that kind of preservation, although there does appear to be enough loose cash lying around for the Reeve to muse aloud about buying a couple of houses next door to knock them down too.

It's all part of a grand plan for the gentrification of Water Street. First the Canadian Tire Parking Lot and now the Pritchard House Parking Lot. I put capital letters on Parking Lot because it is the least I can do to honour this vision for the future.

Why, tourists will come from miles around, abandon the beaches on Horned Grebe Lake to park where Pritchard House used to be and then walk the River Walk, admiring the lovely Parking Lots just across the Gull.

They can put up a plaque somewhere explaining how the old house had to be torn down because doors were too narrow for government work though they were wide enough to admit not only the name but also the grand new loom of the Haliburton Highlands Handweavers and Spinners Guild.

There could even be another plaque at the new Cultural Center explaining why there were hundreds of thousands of dollars for this splendid and admirable new building but no money to save a splendid and admirable piece of the village's past.

Of course, it's all McGuinty's fault. One of the luxuries of being a municipal politician in this province is that you can always blame whatever you decide to do on whichever party happens to be at the Queen's Park trough.

One gerbil's access rules doomed the Pritchard House and some other gerbil made Canadian Tire put its entrances on Water Street instead of Highway 35. The

BACK OF BEYOND

Neil Campbell

You ask yourself, "What would McGyver do?"

I'd rather not talk about the rest of this traumatic event. Suffice it to say, I really loved that magazine.

Of course, I only mention all this so that you'll understand why I am advocating harsher sentences for habitual TP thieves.

Oh sure, you might think a minimum sentence of 5 years is excessive for what essentially is a paper crime; but, then again, you weren't there.

Tougher sentences act as a deterrent. Texas – and I might be making this up – has the lowest incidence of toilet paper theft in all of North America. Those people understand the debilitating psychological effects of this crime; they ride horses.

Please don't misunderstand me.

I'm not saying that I don't pity those whose circumstances have made toilet paper theft an attractive option; I'm just pointing out that we, as a society, can no longer just sit idle. Not if we want a happy end.

township and the developer just knew what this gerbil was thinking so they didn't even ask.

You can see why the developer didn't bother to ask the gerbil, or even look into the offer of a neighbour's driveway. Why go to all that trouble? The company has put too many stores in small towns to think of neighbourly resistance as a serious obstacle to its plans.

A few weeks ago I wrote, reluctantly, that on balance, a Canadian Tire store would be a good thing for Minden. When I wrote that, I assumed the township knew for certain it had no choice about the Water Street entrances.

Assume nothing, ancient editors tried to teach me, but I foolishly assumed that the assumptions of politicians and township staff about the inflexibility of the gerbil's policy were facts.

Instead of assuming, they should have asked before accepting those entrances and their damage to the streetscape. When you don't ask, you let the gerbil, and the province, off the hook.

Now the gerbil is being asked and the Reeve must be contemplating shaving off his moustache to avoid future confusion between the second-guesser and the second-guessed.

Be mindful on the road

To the Editor:

I would like to remind people to try to avoid hitting turtles on our roads. This is the time of year when they are on the move, looking for a place to lay their eggs, and the gravel shoulders of our highways are attractive sites, for a turtle.

As the webpage on the Kawartha Turtle Trauma Centre states, "Six of eight Ontario turtle species are at risk of disappearing, due in part to the large number of turtles injured every summer on our roadways. The Kawartha Turtle Trauma Centre (KTTC), started in 2002, provides medical care to injured native turtles. Once the turtles have recovered, which can take up to a year, they are released back into the wild. Since the centre has been open, more than 100 injured turtles have been brought to the Trauma Centre."

If you find an injured turtle, call the emergency number: 705 760-8266. Turtles can survive a cracked shell, given the proper medical attention. For more information, check out their webpage: <http://www.kawarthaturtle.org/>

Did rain bring May flowers?

May was a very pleasant month. There were warm days, cool and frosty nights, leaving the average temperature very similar to last May's. There was, however, not much rain during the month – only two days, May 15 and May 27 giving us 72.8 mm (about 3 inches). No thunderstorms.

With a river temperature of 20°C, swimming season is on and the hardy ones are enjoying it already. Trivia:

Special Olympians hit the track

Approximately 150 students from nine schools across the Trillium Lakelands District School Board participated in the 3rd annual Special Olympics track meet at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

Presented and supported by the Haliburton Legion, a number of people made the event possible: HHSS teacher Christy O'Neal wanted to show her appreciation to the Legion, the school board, Derek Little's Highlands Outdoor Education Development Program, the paramedics on hand during the event, Dan Fockler, who made a trophy for the teachers tug of war challenge, staff, students, and maintenance, Sharon Dibblee's leadership students, and HHSS photographers Brandon Skelding and Courtney Cook.

Heather Cleve from Strathroy, Ontario follows through with a solid chop at this year's Timberfest held last Saturday at the Minden Fair Grounds.

good people and very friendly," said Lane.

Lane and all contestants held the spotlight for the day-long competitions. Most people hung onto their seats to secure a good view, and the bleachers were full until the last event was over.

"The audience all seemed to be really focusing on the events. They were really cheering people on," said co-organizer Klara Oyler. "There were some very strong women competitors and they are known in the field as being good, strong competitors."

Ladies events included the underhand chop, bow saw and crosscut saw. Well-known lumber Jill, Anne Derry has been a Timberfest regular for quite a few years, and says she makes the trek from Strathroy, Ontario because the variety of events allows her to showcase her skills.

"There are lots for events for women, and the crowd is so much fun," said Derry.

Another strong female competitor is Erica Schreiner. She came from across the border with her husband, Andy. It may have been a long drive from Syracuse, New York, but the duo has done it many times before. They have been attending Timberfest for the past 10 years.

"We love travelling through Canada. They organize a good show and there are quite a few events for women. It's a hobby of ours. We save up our vacation money and drive to compete," said Erica.

Oyler is thrilled that competitors make Minden a priority when choosing events. She says that great athletes come back year after year because the event runs so smoothly, and that's thanks to the help of volunteers and local businesses.

"Volunteers are the backbone of any community. There is such a core group of volunteers, and they make things happen. And if it wasn't for our business sponsors we wouldn't have a lot of activities," said Oyler.

Once Timberfest wrapped up and the sun began to set, Minden remained buzzing well into the night with Aaron Pritchett's performance at the S.G Nesbitt Memorial Arena.

Roughly 600 people tapped their feet to Pritchett's vocals, says Rick Cox, director for communication services for Minden Hills. Pritchett's two-hour performance never had a lull. Pritchett played his own songs, such as the popular, Hold My Beer, but also did a cover set which included popular tunes from AC/DC and Ozzy Osborne.

"It was just this long extended mix of great music and the crowd was just loving it. It was a great show. We're hoping that we'll enjoy a lot of events in the arena over the next little while," said Cox.

"It was loud and energetic, he is a real showman. I love that he made everyone sing O Canada. That made me proud," said Oyler.

PALS donate hard work

by MATT JAMES
Times staff

A group of eight PALS from Archie Stouffer Elementary School have built a table and are donating it to the Canadian Cancer Society's Relay For Life in hopes of raising big money.

Three ASES teachers are involved in the Practical Academic and Life Skills program, Mike Holness, Christine Little, and Karen Lytle. The idea to donate the table came after Lytle read an article written by Canadian Cancer Society volunteer Kathy McKelvey-Brown regarding Relay For Life.

"When we finished the table the feeling was that it would make a great donation," says Lytle. "The wood was donated from Timbermart in Haliburton and they gave students pens, pencils and t-shirts."

Volunteer Kathy McKelvey-Brown accepted the donation on behalf of the Cancer Society.

The eight students, ranging from Grade 4 to Grade 8, each had a hand in constructing the multi-purpose table that took approximately two weeks to complete.

"The kids worked really hard; lots of sanding, lots of measuring. It's plumb, it's square, it's square, it's square and it's beautiful!" said Lytle as the kids laughed and cheered in agreement.

And to show their appreciation teachers and students took step-by-step pictures of the project through its transformation into a table and sent them to Haliburton Timbermart on a big piece of Bristol board.

With lumber supplied by the Haliburton County Homebuilders' Association, three Grade 12 students in Rob Stonehouse's technical design class at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School built this beautiful arbor. It will be one of the items auctioned off this Friday night during the Relay for Life at the high school. Nathan Petrini of the Homebuilders' Association was thrilled with the work of Brandon Sutcliffe and Laurie Leblanc. Absent from the photo is fellow student carpenter Michael Xerri.

Spots still available on the heritage dream quilt

Have your story embroidered on a piece of Haliburton County history

Hope everyone is enjoying the sunshine. This summer I will try not to grumble too much about the humidity.

There are still spots on the Highland Heritage Dream Quilt available. For those of you who have not heard about this excellent opportunity to create a piece of history, here's a recap: Dale Jewett designed a wonderful quilt and names of individuals, families or businesses will be embroidered on this quilt for display at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery. Accompanying this quilt will be an album of biographies written by participants. You are allowed up to a full page to describe your own story.

A minimum donation of $15.00 for an individual or $25.00 for a business will reserve your place on this fabulous quilt. The best part of this is that all donations will benefit the Cottage Dreams Cancer Recovery. Cottage Dreams makes it possible for many cancer survivors and their families to spend time together at a private cottage where they can heal, reconnect and celebrate their recovery.

Help make this happen. Call Sharon Middlehurst at 705-286-1531 or visit www.cottagedreams.org. Hope everyone is enjoying the sunshine.

If you wish submission forms can be picked up here.

Movie Night at the Stanhope Firefighters Community

Centre will feature Ice Age: The Meltdown. Heather Ludlow, who runs this event, sure has some fun ideas for the evening. The movie starts at 7:00 p.m. and Heather encourages all to pay attention! There will be a quiz at the end and winners will receive a prize.

STANHOPE LIFE

Gina Atkinson
489-1397 pine_reflections@yahoo.ca

There will be treats on sale and one of the highlighted sweet for the evening is a make-it-yourself sundae.

Remember admission is by donation and popcorn is free.

For any more information or to volunteer for this event, you are welcome to call the Recreation Department at 705-766-9968.

Watch for weekly postings for Thursday night movies and great summer activities planned for you to enjoy.

Circle Saturday, June 23 for the "All Male Tag Day" fundraising event for the YWCA Haliburton Emergency Rural Safespace (HERS), scheduled to take place in various business locations throughout Haliburton, Carnarvon, West Guilford and Wilberforce.

The Carnarvon location is right here at Pine Reflections. A group of male volunteers will collect donations for HERS to enable women and children who are suffering from abuse in their lives and homes to provide services such as counselling, assistance with housing, court support, transportation and most important - emergency shelter.

This event has been held in various locations in Canada but this is the first time in Haliburton County.

What were especially interesting to me were the three goals. The first goal is to help raise the necessary funds to support HERS. Second, to demonstrate that not all men should be cast with a shadow and to send a message to the community that demonstrates men have respect for women and are opposed to any violence to women. And third, provide hope to achieve "awareness" for women to know that they can find comfort and peace in a time of need. So there you have it - June 23 between the hours of 10:00 a.m. and 2:00 p.m. If you don't know, the locations Minden and Haliburton Town Council has granted permission for these dedicated men to stroll through town.

Remember, all donations collected will directly benefit Haliburton County. This is where we get the opportunity to look out for each other.

Have a great week!

Entertainment on and off the road

Mid- afternoons now find us enjoying being Inside the Actors Studio with TV host James Lipton interviewing Hollywood's best. One tool he uses daily is a list of eight questions that includes "what is your favourite/least favourite sound?" For me the nightly chorus from frogs at the pond would rank high while the persistent whine of that single mosquito somewhere overhead in the darkness scores least favourite.

Kinmount & District Lions Club will hold its A.T.V. Poker Run this Saturday, June 16th with a start time of 10 a.m. from the historic Kinmount Railway Station. The entry cost is $25.00 for each A.T.V. with the course, approximately 90 kilometer in length, finishing back at the Station. Prizes donated include cash for the top five hands and refreshments are available upon completion. The proceeds will be used for Campaign Sight First I NOTE: All riders and passengers must wear approved helmets. All A.T.V.'s must be licensed and insured in order to participate and all rules of the road apply.

The explosion of May 26th at the new home of Bill and Carol West being completed off the Galway Road south of Kinmount was a tragic event. Bill later died from his injuries and Merv Preston remains hospitalized. For those wishing to assist, two separate trust funds have now been set up at the Kawartha Credit Union, Main Street, Kinmount to receive donations for Merv and Donna Preston and for Carol West. Our community's support would be most welcome at this difficult time.

The Kinmount Pharmacy second annual Customer Appreciation Day Barbeque, complete with prizes and draws, takes place from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Wednesday, June 27th outside the Pharmacy on Main Street. In return, this community expresses its appreciation to pharmacist Khos Eshkour and his staff for their support of existing events and for the initiative taken in sponsoring new programs to promote a healthier lifestyle such as the Walking Group and the Diabetes Education seminars for area residents.

Now for the Scoring News with your usual reminder to keep busy and well. They go together.

Outdoor Living 2007

Barbecue season is here!

The beautiful summer days have finally arrived. You missed the aroma of grilled meat. The time has come to take out the barbecue. However, before you light it up, you must disassemble all removable parts and clean the inside and outside of the barbecue with soapy water. Scrub the grills with a nylon brush. Use products specifically made for cleaning barbecues or use oven-cleaning products. Scrub the thermometer with a cleaning pad. If necessary, replace the interior plate that serves to gather the grease and the ceramic coals.

Check to see if the burners are rusted and if any of the pipes and connections are loose, cracked, or broken. Pay attention for signs of vermin, insects, or other undesirable squatters. Clean the burners carefully. Also remember to clean the pipes that lead the gas to the front burner controls because it is a popular place for spider webs and other little cocoons, which could affect the flow of gas to the burners, resulting in poor performance and creating a fire risk at the controls. To know if the gas is flowing properly to a burner, check the flame. If it is yellowish and is slow to start, it could be that the burner tubes are partially obstructed. If so, use a cleaning product designed for burner tubes. Replace a burner if its performance has diminished.

If you don't own a barbecue, a visit to the specialty stores will have you salivating. Start by evaluating your needs, taking into account the space available, your eating habits, the frequency of use, the number of people you are cooking for, and your budget. Choose the model (charcoal, gas, electric, wood), the size, the number and type of burners, the cooking power, the cooking surface, and the type of cooking grills that will best suit your requirements.

Give your property a rustic look! Rustic arrangements ally plants and accessories. In a sunny area, wild flowers growing freely provide a light and open atmosphere. In the underbrush and shady areas, ferns and wild ginger offer a feeling of mystery and untouched nature.

A rustic garden is inspired by the landscape that surrounds it, whether it is the large expanses of the country or the proximity of the city. For one, it offers a pergola, a sleigh, and a barrel; for the other, it displays natural stones, a statue, and a bench. For each, it is a source of visual beauty and appeal.

By recycling your antiques, you can create a quasi-poetic ambiance. Iron and wood unite to create the illusion of timelessness. Old garden tools, picket fences, old bicycles, basins, and railings, add warmth to a rustic garden and give the impression that they have always been there.

If your property has enough space, nothing is more charming than transforming an antique into a floral work of art.

Elements of country life, made of wood, stone, and iron, are particularly desirable. With time, they have acquired a distinctive tint, texture, and softness. Moss has already settled in and the patina of time has done its work.

To complete the rustic arrangement, you can plant perennials that you will allow to grow freely, giving them some basic care so they can thrive in good health. You can also choose annuals, which you will plant in abundance.

Keep your clippings

Each summer, homeowners across the country discard a valuable resource that can help their lawns in a number of ways. Under the false impression that grass clippings cause thatch, many homeowners discard their clippings in garbage bags.

they tote away. However, the best thing to do with clippings is to allow them to fall back to the turf. When allowing clippings to fall back, up to 25 percent of the fertilizer nutrients are returned to the turf. Grass clippings are 85 to 90 percent water and nutrients, including nitrogen, phosphorous and potassium. For clippings to be effective, mowing the lawn regularly and not letting the grass get too high is essential. A good tool to use is a mulching mower, which boasts unique decks and blades that actually suspend clippings, allowing them to be cut into small pieces, perfect for falling back to the turf. Mulching mowers, however, are not effective in tall or wet grass, giving another reason to keep grass from getting too tall.

The Dorset Volunteer Fire Department would like to express their appreciation to everyone who supported their 28th annual Pig Roast on May 26. It was overwhelming, but not surprising, that our supporters were once again there for us.

This year's Pig Roast was very special in more ways than one. I happened to hear a report on our local radio station from Parry Sound / Muskoka MPP Norm Miller. TAKE NOTICE, that the Council of The Corporation of the Township of Minden Hills passed By-law No. 07-36 on the 31st day of May, 2007 pursuant to Section 34 of the Planning Act, R.S.O. 1990, c.P.13, as amended.

AND TAKE NOTICE, that only individuals, corporations or public bodies may appeal to the Ontario Municipal Board in respect of the By-law by filing with the Clerk of the Township of Minden Hills, not later than the 3rd day of July, 2007, a Notice of Appeal setting out the objection to the By-law and the reasons in support of the appeal, accompanied with the fee prescribed under the Ontario Municipal Board Act. Tap into drinking water safety information

In the wake of province-wide testing for lead in drinking water, local health officials are recommending ways for homeowners in this area to address potential concerns.

The Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit has received test results for lead in drinking water from 20 homes in Lindsay. Results show that lead levels in two of the homes were above the provincial standard of 10 parts per billion.

Lindsay's municipal water system was one of 36 across Ontario, and the only one within the HKPR district, ordered by the Ontario government to conduct random testing on houses with lead service pipes. On June 7, the Ontario government released test results from all 36 communities and announced a province-wide action plan to address concerns about lead in drinking water.

Ontario's plan includes several aspects. Starting immediately, schools and daycares must test for lead annually, and for any of these facilities built before 1990, must flush their water systems daily. Municipalities are also required to educate people about lead in water, regularly sample for lead in a certain number of homes, report results to the homeowner and take corrective action if lead levels are above provincial standards. There are other measures, the details of which still need to be finalized.

Locally, even though the test results from Lindsay may be a "snapshot in one community," Anne Alexander, the health unit's director of environmental health, notes they also serve as a reminder that there may be other homes in Northumberland County, Haliburton County and the City of Kawartha Lakes that may have elevated lead levels in drinking water. Lead may enter the drinking water of some older homes as a result of leaching from lead service connections, lead pipes and solder in the plumbing system. Homes built prior to 1952 may have such lines.

Long-term lead exposure at elevated levels can pose the greatest health risk to pregnant women and children under six years of age. That is why the Health Unit recommends, as a precautionary measure, that pregnant women and children under the age of six who live in homes suspected of having lead lines should drink an alternative source of water. This can include drinking bottled water or using an approved filter attached to the tap, or an approved water-pitcher filtration system that meet the National Sanitation Foundation International Standards. This recommendation is especially important for infants whose formula is prepared by adding tap water to liquid concentrate or powder.

In general, if area residents suspect or know they have lead pipes in their homes, the Health Unit advises:

Running the water from the drinking water tap if it has been sitting in the pipes for six hours or more. This will "flush" or remove the standing water before you drink or use it for preparing food. You should run the cold drinking water tap at medium flow for five minutes. Alternately, you can take a shower or run a large appliance such as a washing machine or dishwasher, then run the cold water tap at medium flow for an additional two minutes.

Using cold, flushed water for drinking and preparing food. Water from the hot water tap should not be consumed as it may contain more lead.

Removing aerators on occasion from taps and flushing out any accumulated debris.

Alexander cautions that heating or boiling drinking water will not remove lead, and in fact, could increase the concentration of it.

More information about lead in drinking water is available at the Health Unit's web site at www.hkpr.on.ca under 'What's New.'

The Township of Minden Hills In Season, Every Season

THE CORPORATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF MINDEN HILLS

NOTICE OF PASSING OF BY-LAW NO. 07-37 APPLICANT - Lymer RZ-07-03

TAKE NOTICE, that the Council of The Corporation of the Township of Minden Hills passed By-law No. 07-37 on the 31st day of May, 2007 pursuant to Section 34 of the Planning Act, R.S.O. 1990, c.P.13, as amended.

AND TAKE NOTICE, that only individuals, corporations or public bodies may appeal to the Ontario Municipal Board in respect of the By-law by filing with the Clerk of the Township of Minden Hills, not later than the 3rd day of July, 2007, a Notice of Appeal setting out the objection to the By-law and the reasons in support of the objection, accompanied with the fee prescribed under the Ontario Municipal Board Act. An unincorporated association or group may not file a Notice of Appeal. However, a Notice of Appeal may be filed in the name of an individual who is a member of the association or group on its behalf.

Note: If the last day of appeal falls on a holiday, appeals may be filed on the day following that is not a holiday.

THE PURPOSE of the amendment is to amend the zoning category on land located on South Lake in the geographic Township of Snowdon, at Part of Lot 5, Concession 14, from Shoreline Residential (SR) Zone to Shoreline Residential Exception Sixteen (SR-16) and Shoreline Residential Exception Seventeen (SR-17) Zone.

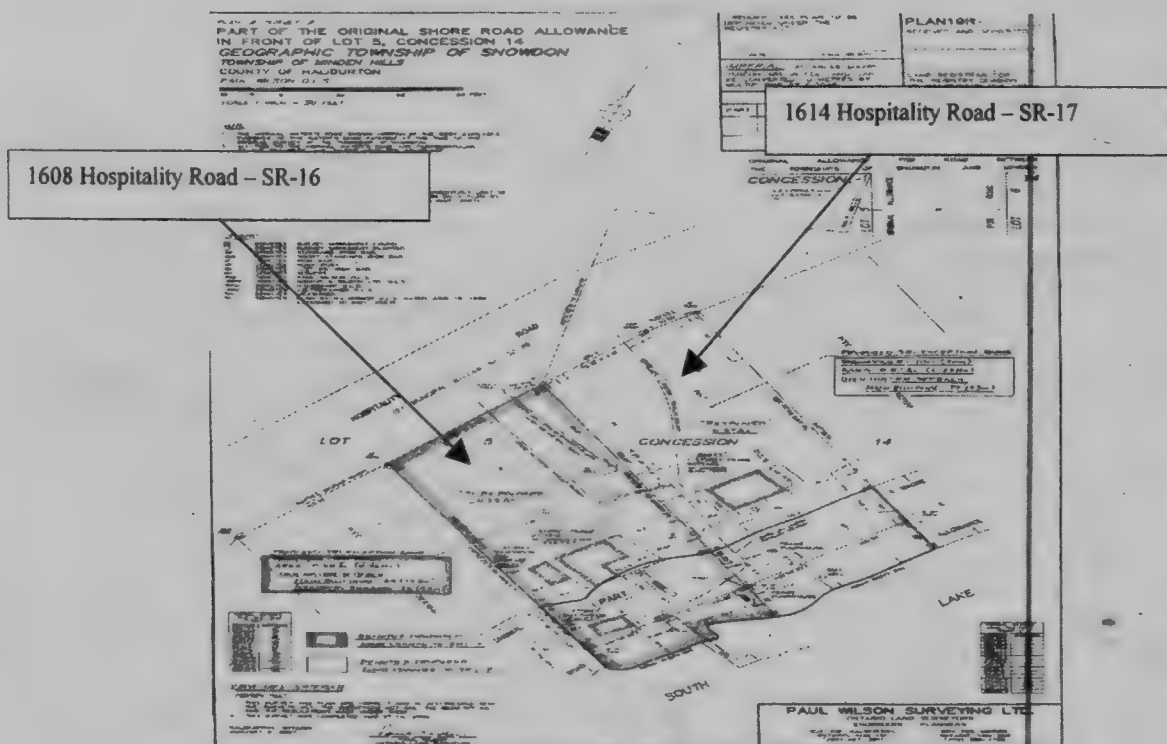

THE EFFECT of the zoning amendment is to permit the severance of property that had merged. Each lot has less frontage and area than required in by-law 06-10, as well as individual dwelling units and accessory buildings with setbacks that do not conform to By-law 06-10. This rezoning recognizes that the lots are undersized and allows the existing buildings to remain in their current location.

THE LAND affected by the amendment is shown on the Key Map attached.

A copy of the complete By-law is available for review at the building and planning office of the Township of Minden Hills during regular office hours.

The hour nightmares come

An Hour of the Wolf: Nightmare Quadrangle
by Elizabeth Siegfried
Exhibition at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery, Minden

Compelling and provocative are good words to describe the exhibition of An Hour of the Wolf: Nightmare Quadrangle.

Simply translated, the 'hour of the wolf' is explained by the following quote from Ingram Bergman – Hour of the Wolf (1968): "Old people call it 'the hour of the wolf'. It's the hour when most people die, when most children are born. Now is when nightmares come to us. And if we're awake... we're afraid... we're afraid..."

Elizabeth Siegfried has taken this idea and explored a narration in black and white photos that she took over a period of time. She has created four sequences – or 'nightmares': Unease, Clipped, Sink and Vigil. Each consists of juxtaposed images that create a travelogue of the psyche. As self-portraits combine with landscapes and still-lives, the nightmares in An Hour of the Wolf become both personal and universal in nature.

"An Hour of the Wolf: Nightmare Quadrangle" is on display at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery until July 15.

Each depicts our apprehensions, a disquieting human situation and a period of unease. Each examines the thoughts and fears that may haunt us during an 'hour of the wolf'.

Unease explores loss of identity and self, entrapment and confusion and the line between what is real and what is imagined. Clipped addresses the desire to escape and the realization that it is impossible. Sink embodies the fears of hopelessness, of feeling overwhelmed and alone in quiet despair. Vigil tells of waiting for something that never comes.

The images of Elizabeth Siegfried increasingly have become recognized for their intricacy of detail and sophistication of content. Known for her work in self portraiture and photographic narrative, Siegfried has worked with the historical process of platinum for 25 years and has exhibited her images in Canada, the US, Italy, Japan and Mexico. In recent years, she has expanded her mode of presentation to include both IRIS and digital color images.

An internationally-acclaimed photographer, Siegfried has made self-portrait the main theme for her work and brings photography to a level of incredible composition and quality. You cannot be anything other than awed by the thought and ingenuity with which Siegfried has captured images in a sequence.

The exhibition explains what the platinum versus Iris printing process for photography involves.

If you are photographer this is a must see exhibition. And if you're not – view our nightmares.

Exhibition will be on display until July 15. Agnes Jamieson Gallery is located at 176 Bobcaygeon Road Minden open Monday to Saturday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday 12 p.m. to 4 p.m..

Women's Institute celebrates 100 years of magic

The Minden Women's Institute celebrated 100 years of existence in Minden with a party in the new Lions Hall. All the members were present along with their guests and also members from Norland, Powles Corners and Pleasant Valley of the Victoria East District, and representatives from the Head Office in Guelph.

We received cards and good wishes from those unable to attend. MPP Laurie Scott sent congratulations and wished us luck for the future of the organization.

We were entertained by Earl Cooper and Kathleen Owens, who played old-time square dance music on the fiddle and keyboard. Also the Grades 1, 2 and 3 school choir from Archie Stouffer Elementary School gave a delightful performance, which everybody enjoyed immensely.

The members provided a delicious lunch along with tea, coffee and fruit punch, and a 100th Anniversary cake was made by Rachel's Bakery in Minden for all to enjoy.

The next meeting is our summer lunch meeting to be held in the Minden United Church at 11.30 a.m. on June 20. Friends and family are welcome to join us. We will be holding our annual home-grown or home-made sale to raise funds for our charity work. Please call Mary at 286-1158 or Pam 754-1656 for information.

Carol Simmons, the curator of the Minden Museum says the Sterling Bank operated on Minden's main street from 1919-1925. It then became the Standard Bank (as shown in the photo) from 1925-1928 when it changed to the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

Sterling Bank 'deposits' $25,000 from Ontario Trillium Foundation

by DIANNE GRAHAM
Special to The Times

The charming red building at the Minden Hills Museum was home to the town's first bank when it opened in 1915. Over the years, Sterling became Standard Bank, Imperial Bank of Commerce and Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce. When it was decided in 1954 that a more modern facility was required, the old building was moved to Peck Street to be used as the Minden Library.

This building in fact "launched" the County Town Museum when it was acquired in 1984. We have worked to highlight its heritage over the years and many visitors are intrigued to learn of our 1946 bank robbery. The building has housed the office of our museum curator over the years, and more recently the Haliburton Highlands Genealogy Group library. The surroundings, however, have been rather uncomfortable – there was absolutely no insulation in the floors or walls. That perhaps was not a major problem when the museum was only open for two months of the year – not so long ago. Now we want to extend our season – not only are tourists looking for attractions throughout the year, but we want to work with the schools to develop programming in the spring and fall.

Ontario Trillium Foundation Comes Through

Last fall we applied for a grant from the Ontario Trillium Foundation and were thrilled to learn that we were awarded $25,000. Renovations will not only provide a comfortable working environment, but allow us to recreate part of the space as the original 1915 bank interior. Curator Carol Simmons already has plans to form a coin club and other "banking-related" activities. Visitors enter the museum grounds through the bank entrance and we can now be proud of our welcoming "first impression" – one that we can be proud of. We expect to make some major savings in heating costs too.

Open House

On Friday, June 29, join MPP Laurie Scott, Reeve Jim McMahon, our staff, volunteers and representatives from the Ontario Trillium Foundation for the grand launch of the renovated Sterling Bank. You're welcome from 2 – 4 p.m. and the official ceremony will be at 2:30 with refreshments served. Come on in and make a deposit. You'll receive a special souvenir. Call Carol Simmons at 286-3154 for information.

Help prevent violence against women and children on Male Tag Day

by JESSICA YOUNG
Times staff

On Saturday, June 23 between 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., there will be an unusually high number of men on main streets across the county.

Groups of male volunteers will be in downtown Minden, Haliburton, Wilberforce, Eagle Lake and Carnarvon, helping to raise money for the YWCA Haliburton Emergency Rural SafeSpace (HERS).

Men will be standing outside local businesses or strolling around town. Donate and receive a tag, pin it, and wear it knowing that your money goes towards the prevention of violence against women and their families.

This is the first Male Tag Day in Haliburton County and organizers are hoping everyone gets involved to show their support.

The organization hosts a variety of services and programs which include counselling, assistance with housing, court support, and transportation and emergency services for women and children.

Interested male volunteers can call Daisy Downs at 286-1942 or Bob McKay at 754-4556.

HOTTON, Joanne
 In loving memory of my wife who passed away June 16, 2006.

*In tears we saw you sinking,
 And watched you pass away.
 Our hearts were almost broken,
 We wanted you to stay.
 But when we saw you sleeping,
 So peaceful, free from pain,
 How could we wish you back with us,
 To suffer that again.*

*It broke our hearts to lose you,
 But you did not go alone,
 For part of us went with you,
 The day God took you home.*

Missing you always, Lorne, Donna, Brendan, Matthew and Beulah
